

Animal Behavior

Created on TheTeachersCorner.net Crossword Maker sexual dimorphism   female   forest   ultimate   insects   polygyny   monogamy promiscuity   proximate   rare   territories   polyandry   frequency dependent polyandry   intrasexual   polygyny   intersexual

Across

4. When there is one male and many females, _____ competition usually results when there are defendable resources.
7. _____ mating strategy often occurs when resources are very abundant.
9. _____ mating strategy often occurs in complex social groups.
12. Within a one to one mating strategy, there is typically no _____.
13. Reproduction is (usually) more costly for the _____ partner.
14. Wetter regions tend to have what vegetation structure?
15. _____ causation is a mechanical explanation of something (HOW it occurs).
16. Animals create _____ when a valuable resource is concentrated and therefore defendable.

Down

1. The mating strategy where there is one male and many females is called _____.
2. A single female mating with several males is found mostly in _____.
3. If cheating was common, then natural selection would favor those organisms that could detect and eliminate 'liars.' This is known as _____ selection.
5. Cheaters are most common in monogamy and _____ systems.
6. When there is one male and many females, _____ competition usually occurs when there are no resources to defend.
8. Animals with a high level of parental care requires _____ for at least one season.
10. _____ causation is an evolutionary explanation of something (WHY it occurs).
11. Cheating only works if it is _____.